#
MIME-TYPES and the extensions that represent them
This file is part of the "mime-support" package. Please send email (not a # bug report) to mime-support@packages.debian.org if you would like new types
and/or extensions to be added.
The reason that all types are managed by the mime-support package instead # allowing individual packages to install types in much the same way as they # add entries in to the mailcap file is so these types can be referenced by # other programs (such as a web server) even if the specific support package
for that type is not installed.
#
Users can add their own types if they wish by creating a ".mime.types"
file in their home directory. Definitions included there will take # precedence over those listed here.
Note: Compression schemes like "gzip", "bzip", and "compress" are not # actually "mime-types". They are "encodings" and hence must _not_ have # entries in this file to map their extensions. The "mime-type" of an # encoded file refers to the type of data that has been encoded, not the # type of encoding.
